PLANE PLUNGES INTO RIVER AT FREDERICTON

Skiffs and Launches Hurry to Rescue Three Airmen From Wrecked Machine

Accident Result of Pilot Being Deceived by Appearance of Stream

Fredericton, N.B., Nov. 9.—Deceived by the reflection of a leaden sky on the smooth surface of the St. John River, a Canadian aircraft dived straight into the river here this afternoon. In the plane were Flight-Lieut. C. N. Harrop, pilot, Corp. Winship, mechanic and C. Donnelly, photographer, all of Dartmouth, N.S., at the time.

Canoe, skiffs and launches dashed from both banks of the river as soon as the crash had occurred, as the plane had circled several times before hitting the surface of the river. The three aviators were clinging to the wreck, the plane having broken up after striking the water.

The airmen were cut about the face and much bruised and suffering from shock and exposure.

Roy Olmsted in Jail in Seattle

Bail Not Provided While Ex-Policeman Awaits Liquor Charge Trial

Seattle, Nov. 9.—Roy Olmsted, former Seattle police lieutenant and defendant in several liquor conspiracy cases, was still in jail here today, awaiting trial of the Woodmont Beach or "Little Olmsted" case in federal court. Olmsted's appearance in court depends upon the speed with which narcotic and other cases pending against him are disposed of. It was expected other litigation would be cleared away by to-night or to-morrow.

Friends of the imprisoned officer, who is regarded by federal authorities as the "rum baron" of the Pacific Northwest, yesterday made efforts to raise $5,000 bail, but last night Olmsted was taken to the county jail after he had been permitted to go home and change his clothing.

Bowser Rouses Vancouver While Local Tories Say He Has Finally Retired

While W. J. Bowser, K.C., was taking the chief part in an important Conservative Party rally in Vancouver and outshining Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative leader, in a characteristic fighting speech last night, Victoria Conservatives were being asked by Capt. M. D. Harbord to believe that the old chieftain was in permanent retirement.

In the same hour that Mr. Bowser was rousing a Vancouver audience to heights of enthusiasm, Capt. Harbord was telling the Ward Two Conservative Association that Mr. Bowser was "out of the picture" and only wanted to be left in peace. Meanwhile Mr. Bowser appeared to be in the very centre of the Vancouver picture, while many of his chief friends and supporters were elected to high office in the Vancouver Conservative Association, as in the Victoria Association recently.

Last night presented some strange scenes in the Conservative camp. In Victoria Capt. Harbord denied that Mr. Bowser existed politically while in Vancouver he appeared more alive than at any time since the Kamloops Convention a year ago. Dr. Tolmie, the leader of the Party, made a genial, inebriated address while the supposedly retired chieftain was electrifying the same audience with a strong message of cheer to the Party. And at the same meeting and on the same platform R. H. Pooley, Conservative House leader and one of the leaders of the anti-Bowser faction in the Party, solemnly pleaded for unity among Conservatives as only Liberal propaganda anyway.

Robb, told the Federal Provincial Conference here this afternoon following the discussion of the request made for increases in the subsidies paid annually by the Dominion to the provinces.

The Minister of Finance emphasized the tremendous obligations growing out of the war and the maturities the federal Government was compelled to meet from time to time.

Mr. Robb promised nothing beyond what Parliament would see fit to do in the matter of increased subsidies.

Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, also spoke for the federal Government.

NEW RADIO AGREEMENT OF NATIONS TO AID OPERATIONS OF AVIATORS IN CANADA

Washington, Nov. 9 (Canadian Press)—Canada's right to exclusive wave bands for the direction of aircraft in the Dominion has been recognized by the International Radio Conference here and a wide band sufficient to take care of extensive development of commercial flying in Canada has been set aside for the sole use of Canada.

When the question of communication between aircraft and ground stations was under discussion in committee, the Canadian delegates brought up the necessity for the recognition of the needs of aircraft in Canada.

It was pointed out that in practical application of aircraft in forest protection survey work and similar useful purposes Canada led the world. The necessity for a clear band through which aircraft could communicate regularly with ground stations was recognized as it had been previously recognized in Europe.

It developed that the Canadian Government has been compelled to shift the wave lengths used by Canadian aircraft several times because of interference from powerful broadcasting stations in Europe.

These were strong enough to drown out the communications from the small sending equipment on the aircraft. Hereafter, commercial broadcasters the world over will have to keep out of the exclusive band allotted to Canadian aircraft.

"With the additional facilities," a Canadian delegate told the Canadian Press to-day, "it will be possible to provide not only for the very extensive forest protection operations in the various provinces, but also for all kinds of commercial aircraft enterprises."

Appeal to Ottawa Is Not Allowed

Vancouver, Nov. 9.—Leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada was refused to-day by the British Columbia Court of Appeal in Hughes versus Beban, a Vancouver Island case.

Chief Justice Macdonald stated there were no special circumstances which justified sending the case to the Supreme Court of Canada. He added the amount involved was $1,100 and the dispute concerned a small quantity of timber.

At the trial before Mr. Justice Morrison, the plaintiff was awarded damages in an action for trespass in respect of forty acres between Ladysmith and Extension.

REVERENT SILENCE ON ARMISTICE DAY

The Armistice Period Committee makes the special request that no bells be rung nor sirens blown this year in connection with the celebration of Armistice on November 11.

In previous years there has been a wild welley of sounds which did anything but create the right atmosphere. This year the two minutes' silence will be marked by the firing of the time gun at 11 a.m. and the sounding of the Last Post, followed at 11:02 by the sounding of the "Carry On." It is hoped that everyone will take notice of this request on the part of the Armistice Period Committee, which is making a special effort to have the silence reverently observed.

There will be a short service at the Cenotaph at 11 a.m., November 11, when various Government representatives, organizations and individuals will place wreaths at the memorial.

Woman and Child Rescued By Firemen; Disaster Started by Explosion

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 8.—Damage amounting to about $40,000 was caused and a woman and her child were rescued with difficulty when fire to-day practically destroyed the postoffice building here. Twenty postal clerks and mail carriers escaped from the building, but returned and managed to remove the mail to safety.

Mrs. Gorrie, wife of the caretaker, and her infant child were taken from the smoke-filled building by firemen. An explosion, believed to have occurred in the furnace, blowing out all the windows and doing damage to nearby buildings, started the fire.

Murder Charge In Royal City

George Burgess and J. McKenzie Plead Not Guilty; Otto Brosch Killed

New Westminster, Nov. 9.—George Burgess and John McKenzie pleaded not guilty to a charge of having murdered Otto Brosch, a Dutch boy, on a freight train near Ruby Creek on July 22, when the trial opened in the assize court here to-day. It is proceeding before Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald.

A. S. Johnson, K.C., prosecutor, told how Otto Brosch and his companion, Benjamin Rayberger, strangers in this country, had "hopped" an eastbound freight train near Gore Avenue in Vancouver and had struck up a friendship with Burgess and McKenzie, who were also beating their way.

The prosecution alleged that shortly after the train had passed Mission, Burgess attacked Brosch and McKenzie jumped on Rayberger, demanding their money. Brosch fell to the floor of the flat car, paralyzed by one of the blows delivered by Burgess, it was charged.

ONE PROTESTED

Burgess, said Mr. Johnson, then urged that Brosch be thrown from the train, but McKenzie relented and protested. He remained behind on the flat car with the two Dutch lads, Burgess going to another car.

Dr. Peter McCaffrey of Mission testified that when Brosch was taken from the car at Mission he was in a serious condition.

Upon arrival at Vancouver an operation was performed to relieve pressure on the brain caused by a fracture of the skull and cerebral hemorrhage, said Dr. Ainsley Seymour, assistant superintendent of the Vancouver General Hospital, who witnessed the operation.

STATEMENTS MADE LEPROSY GERMS SENT TO U.S. FROM BRAZIL

Police in Portland, Oregon, Hold Man While Investigation Carried Out

Portland, Ore., Nov. 9.—Mystery deepened to-day in the weird case of William Nash, failed by police here Monday when his connection with an international ring for the distribution of leprosy and anthrax germs was insinuated in a bundle of letters found in his room. Nash's connection with the letters has been definitely established.

Although alarm locally over statements in the "leprosy" letter was largely allayed through announcement of other letters, tending to show Nash had communicable contacts in foreign lands, aroused even greater interest.

The "leprosy" letter, being a Rio Janeiro date, was signed "Ant" and told of the sending by the writer of sufficient leprosy germs to inoculate 200 persons.

FLOT ALLEGED

Yesterday from Tacoma came a telegram addressed to Chief of Police Jenkins from Edward Balfour, who said he was a private investigator.

The telegram said: "Hold Nash without bail until I can reach Seattle federal office. Have all details this international Red plot. My report already in Washington, D.C. This man is important link. Reference Captain Strickland, Tacoma, Wash."

"A few minutes before this telegram was turned over to Captain Moore of the 'leprosy' division of the police department, Inspector Tuckey had filed a request with Bruce Cameron, sanitary expert, to have Nash given a hearing to determine his mental condition.

NEW RULES FOR CAR LICENSES EXPLAINED

New automobile licenses for 1928, which will be ready shortly, will be issued to any motorist until his cheque covering the necessary amount falls due. That is, in the case of post-dated cheques, license plates will be sent out on the date indicated on the cheque and not before. Officials made this clear to-day while explaining that post-dated cheques will be accepted as long as the motorist will not have to pay out their license fees until the beginning of the year, even if they apply for a license on November 1.

SUBSIDIES TOPIC OF LENGTHY EXCHANGE OF VIEWS AT OTTAWA

Federal Payments to Provinces Debated at Conference of the Premiers

New Brunswick Asks Duncan Report be Fully Carried Out

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Federal subsidies to the nine provinces and the Duncan report on the claims of the Maritime Provinces, were brought under review at yesterday's session of the Federal Provincial Conference here.

PREMIER BAXTER SPOKE

New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia held the floor throughout the day. For New Brunswick, Premier J. B. M. Baxter declared that questions before the conference should not be discussed in the light of Orit or Tory. All the recommendations made by the Duncan Commission should be carried into effect by Federal legislation, he believed.

POSITION OF PRAIRIES

For Saskatchewan, Premier J. G. Gardiner opposed the idea that the West was indebted to any part of the Dominion for its lands. The Western Provinces, though, "owed a debt to the Eastern Provinces for having sent their sons and daughters to the West for settlement there."

With the opening of the Hudson's Bay Railway, a trade might be established between the Maritimes and the prairies which would add to the prosperity of both.

CHANGES MAY COME

Mr. Gardiner declared care should be taken in the establishment of a 90-cent standard of equity and in the maintenance of a strong central government with an adequate taxing power. Some day the Maritime Provinces might be the richest part of Canada, while the prairie provinces might have to pass through a trying period from time to time.

P.E.I. IS HEARD

Attorney-General Inman of Prince Edward Island stated the island was compelled to maintain a sheriff, militia and the same general machinery which could just as well handle a population of 850,000. The per capita argument did not therefore apply to a province of its proportions. The question had been asked as to why the province did not tax itself. Whether it did or not, the Federal Government was responsible for the province, he said, had the right to ask the Government to keep up legislation and government irrespective of whether the province taxed itself or not. The sum of $404,000 was necessary for this purpose if decent salaries were to be given to the Ministers. It might be thought that was the amount which appeared in the public accounts. But there were other taxes collected in other directions, including road taxes, school taxes and land taxes, amounting in all to some $250,000, which did not appear in the public accounts, but which, nevertheless, were a burden upon a small population.

COMMISSION PLAN

Hon. T. C. Davis, Minister of Municipal Affairs of Saskatchewan, declared his province had no special claims to submit, but desired some further knowledge as to the nature of the claims. Dealing with the question of the Federal Government going out of the field of the direct taxation and at the same time increasing subsidies, he declared this could only mean the prairie lands, to which his province was opposed. While sympathetic with the claims of the Maritimes, he was entirely opposed to the contention they had any claim in the prairie lands and to the further contention that the debt allowance of the West was inequitable. If, however, the Maritimes had any just claim in the latter direction, he would oppose it.

PROFIT ON LANDS

Attorney-General Cross of Saskatchewan, said the Duncan report was ex parte and had been made without consideration of the effect it might have on other provinces. He declared there had been a Federal profit rather than a deficit. No other province would contend it had any legal or proprietary rights to the lands of the prairie provinces. The Federal war debt had to be paid, therefore the provinces should not be too strong in their demands.

BROTHERLY CONSIDERATION

In his speech Premier Baxter of New Brunswick made reference to the Government lands in the prairie provinces, which are involved in the discussion of the transfer of control of their natural resources from Federal to Provincial ownership. He said he did not contend the Maritimes Provinces had any claim upon them, but he asked that the prairies show a "brotherly consideration" for those who had shared the land so those lands could be made valuable by railways and other developments.

QUESTION OF EXPENDITURES

The New Brunswick Premier submitted figures to show that for lack of means his province had the lowest per capita expenditure on education of all the provinces of Canada. In other directions the expenditures were correspondingly low, and it was impossible adequately to develop various services which to-day were regarded as essential. Such services were starved for lack of funds.

TAXATION EFFORTS

On the question of taxation the Premier declared his province had exhausted all its sources. It had been shown the Maritimes were not wasting money. There was no finality in the relations between the provinces and the Dominion. It was simply a question of trying to obtain equality of treatment without overlooking special needs where they existed.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Dr. Baxter declared that in his province there was an undue percentage of the population too young to work and above the working age. These would, therefore, be a very considerable difficulty in adopting the Old Age Pensions Act, which in the Maritimes would cost from three to five or even ten times as much as in any of the Western provinces.

MUCH OF THE FUTURE OF THE MARITIME PROVINCES

ought to be decided by the sea, said Premier Baxter, but with the extension of Great Britain the countries there had put up tariff barriers which practically excluded Maritime products. There was hope in the extension of steamship service to the West Indies. The hopes of Confederation had not been realized, but he was not saying this in any spirit of bitterness.

BOWSER OUT OF IT

Capt. Harbord's speech here was the most illuminating of a notable evening. Capt. Harbord said that Mr. Bowser had told him during a recent interview: "I am going South for the benefit of my health and I want to be in peace in my retirement." "I think," said Capt. Harbord, "that this clears the air. We can get along with other necessary work and leave Mr. Bowser in the retirement. If we go on chasing rainbows we will get nowhere. We must get down to real work. Mr. Bowser at his own request and by his own action is 'out of the picture.' There should be no division in the Party. All should be united in working for the good of the Party."

Capt. Harbord declared he had sought and secured this definite announcement from Mr. Bowser to end all rumors of the former leader's plans to re-enter public life. He said Mr. Bowser had told him at a private meeting recently that he only wanted to be left alone.

FORMER MINISTER ELECTED

William Manson, former Minister of Agriculture in the Bowser Government of 1924, was elected president of the Vancouver Conservative Association at its annual meeting last night. Speakers on the platform included Dr. Tolmie, Mr. Bowser, Mr. Pooley, Brigadier-General J. A. Clark, M.P. for Burrard, and Capt. George Black, M.P. for the Yukon.

Mr. Bowser in his address criticized the Government, referring to the campaign funds inquiry as a "barrage" and the recommendation of the committee that liquor firm contributors to the funds be punished, as "rank hypocrisy."

"The constitution requiring eight paid ministers has been wiped out by the Liberals," he continued, "they have now only six in office because they are too lazy to let a member go to his constituency for election."

He declared Vancouver should have a cabinet minister. Mr. Bowser referred to the recent Departmental Inquiry Act as a sign the Government was too weak to deal with department officials without turning the matter, such as the recent liquor store scandal, over to the courts.

Mr. Bowser conceded the Liberals had put through good social legislation, but declared his own regime in 1916 had not been less in the regard of doing several acts such as, Workmen's Compensation, Factories Act, Votes for Women and the University Act. He said the Province needed a business government and one that would aid capital in developing the natural resources without harassing legislation, such as the Unearned Increment Act.

POOLEY SCENTS SCANDALS

Mr. Pooley, speaking briefly, repudiated the recent contract for twenty-two miles of the Cariboo Road, he declared, "and I could give you twelve more similar cases. The Palmer contract bid $775,000 and cost us $950,000; it also barred subletting, but Palmer did so."

"We have unearthed several scandals such as the Palmer contract for twenty-two miles of the Cariboo Road," he declared, "and I could give you twelve more similar cases. The Palmer contract bid $775,000 and cost us $950,000; it also barred subletting, but Palmer did so."

Mr. Pooley declared that Liberal propaganda was being deliberately spread in Victoria in an effort to disrupt the Conservative Party and asserted "they are using some of our old-time Conservatives to spread that propaganda."

behind him in Victoria as I want you to do here. Don't let the Liberals deceive you and divide your ranks," Mr. Pooley declared.

TOLMIE WANTS SETTLERS

Dr. Tolmie outlined what he termed the "constructive policies" of the Conservative Party, dwelling at length on the need for settlers in the Province and urging that the land should be classified, the settlers classified and systematic aid given to them in procuring and forming happy communities.

FORESEE ELECTION

All speakers, including Brigadier-General Clark, who spoke on the recent Conservative convention at Winnipeg, declared an election was imminent in British Columbia within a year and urged the Conservative Party to stand firm and be prepared to meet the Liberals in every constituency.

The meeting ended with the passage of a resolution of confidence in Dr. Tolmie and in Hon. R. B. Bennett, M.P., the new Conservative national leader.

front docks in thousands of cases while deputy sheriffs stood by to see the handlers were not molested was detailed yesterday in federal court here by Government witnesses in the Gray's Harbor rum conspiracy case, involving former Sheriff Elmer Gibson and thirty-six other alleged members of the ring.

In his Mason County operations Huggett said he was associated with Dick Shively, former Seattle policeman, now a fugitive from justice on similar charges. During these operations he shipped moonshine into Gray's Harbor County at the rate of fifty gallons a day to agents of the alleged ring at a price of $4 a gallon, the receivers paying the protection costs in addition. This was from June 15 until Labor Day, 1926.

The testimony of Huggett and Stratley was the most incriminating so far offered by the Government in support of its charge of wholesale liquor operations in Gray's Harbor during the regime of Gibson.

Australia Thanks Canada For Gift

Canberra, Australia, Nov. 9.—When the chair presented by the Canadian Government to the Australian Senate was occupied for the first time by the president, Senator Newlands, a vote of thanks to the sister Dominion was moved by Sir T. W. Glasgow, who remarked upon the fine workmanship displayed in the gift, which he considered a symbol of the perpetual friendship of the two countries. Senator Needham seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

COMMISSION PLAN

While, however, there is almost complete unanimity of opinion in favor of granting to the provinces control of their natural resources and of implementing the recommendations of the Duncan report, the suggestion was made by Premier Ferguson of Ontario that it might be well to appoint an independent commission of financial and business experts to go into the whole question of provincial demands to make a report and to have this report submitted to a further Federal Provincial conference for consideration. The further suggestion was made by Premier Taschereau of Quebec that the question of jurisdiction over water-powers in large streams should be submitted as a reference to the courts.

SYMPATHY AROUSED

Premier Brownlee of Alberta to-day declared that while the name of his province had not appeared in the programme on the subject under discussion, his province was deeply interested. Even if this subject had occupied the entire time of the conference it would have been a privilege to hear the arguments made by the Maritime representatives. He believed these arguments had created a very sympathetic feeling on the part of the other provinces and he trusted the presentation of the views of the prairies would have a similar effect.

TAXATION PROBLEM

In Western Canada there was a "sound of growing in the treetops" and the vital question facing the provinces was the adoption of a policy which would encourage present-day optimism. This would be discouraged if the provinces should be compelled to adopt taxation beyond the power of their people to bear.

The Fathers of Confederation had placed certain responsibilities upon the Dominion and upon the provinces. The responsibilities of the provinces were increasing daily and the increase in the debts of the provinces was proportionately greater than that of the Dominion while the system of finance of the Dominion was elastic and that of the provinces inflexible.

GENERAL PROSPECT

Premier Brownlee declared it was impossible to have a healthy Dominion without healthy provinces. It had been stated the Dominion was liquidating its debt and at the same time decreasing its taxation. On the other hand, the provinces were seeking new resources of taxation and going more into the direct field. This was necessary because of new demands with regard to highways, health and education and development of new districts, which increased the revenues of the Federal Government. The ratio of

CARIBOO TRAIL IS GIVEN PUBLICITY

Officers Elected at Annual Meeting of Association at Vernon

Vernon, B.C., Nov. 9.—D. B. Johnstone of Kamloops is the new president of the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association. R. J. Vogler of Osoyoos, Wash., is vice-president. The secretary-treasurer is H. M. Walker, Enderby.

The visitors at the annual meeting yesterday were entertained at luncheon by the Vernon Board of Trade.

The retiring president, L. J. Jones, of Okanagan, Wash., recommended that the association adopt some uniform method of keeping track of tourist business in all cities.

PUBLICITY WORK

L. J. Wood, field manager, reported on the activities of the association. Fifteen thousand special pamphlets had been issued and 33,000 large road map folders. A special circular setting forth the attractions of the Okanagan-Cariboo trail and announcing the opening of the new Cariboo Highway through the Fraser Canyon was circulated among garages, hotel and service station men in contact with tourists on the Pacific, Sunset and North Central Highways.

SUBSIDY QUESTION TO BE DECIDED BY FEDERAL HOUSE

Supreme Court of Canada on the question of jurisdiction.

One of the provincial representatives had earlier complained of the "bureaucracy" which was hampering the fuller power development.

Mr. Dunning outlined the magnitude of the undertakings of the Dominion regarding the Canadian National Railway.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Prince Edward Island's appeal for an increased subsidy at Federal Provincial Conference has received the support of all the other provinces. "This is intimate was the unique feature of the resumed discussion of provincial subsidies at the conference session this forenoon.

Premier Brownlee of Alberta spoke this morning. In discussing the whole subject, the Maritime Provinces pressed for increased subsidies, while the prairie provinces wanted control of their natural resources transferred from Federal to provincial authority.

The representatives from Ontario and Quebec did not take any active stand on the claims of Maritime and Western provinces.

This afternoon Hon. James Robb, Federal Minister of Finance, will make a statement on the financial phases of the question and the conference will adjourn at 4 o'clock to enable the Federal Ministers to hold a Cabinet meeting. Thereafter further discussion of the question will be continued at 8 p.m.

It may be stated, says an official announcement, that the general consensus of the delegates is that every effort should be made to make a permanent Dominion Department of the provinces prosperous, and that whatever money may be expended by the Federal authorities toward that end will be in the future be amply repaid to the Federal exchequer.

Yesterday Premier Gardiner declared on behalf of his province that he would not care if $100,000 or $200,000 were taken out of the other eight provinces to help Prince Edward Island overcome the peculiar difficulties under which it labored by reason of its isolation. This opinion with regard to that province may be said to be shared by all the other speakers of the conference.

subsidies had not kept pace with the increase in the customs and excise revenues, nor with the additional obligations of the provinces.

For instance, the Old Age Pensions Act would put on Alberta a burden equal to one-third of its total Federal subsidy and the provinces had taxed every source of taxation with the exception of the income tax.

DEBT QUESTION

In the opinion of Premier Brownlee Dominion was retreating its national debt at a rate not necessary, particularly when the provinces were still showing deficits. He could not see why the comparatively small claim of the Maritime Provinces and the request of somewhat similar treatment on the part of other provinces should seriously embarrass the Federal exchequer.

Mr. Brownlee spoke of the problems with which his province had to solve which were heavy because of its small population. He declared the railway problem of Alberta was one which was sapping its lifeblood. The province had built three railways costing $42,000,000, and was compelled to pay an annual interest of $2,500,000.

INQUIRY SUGGESTED

Premier Ferguson of Ontario declared that if in the next few months or so the Dominion government would declare its willingness to appoint a commission of outstanding financial men which would bring in a report within a year and which report would be submitted to a Dominion-Provincial conference, it would go far toward encouraging those who to-day had grievances either real or imaginary. The isolated position of Prince Edward Island must be dealt with in a special way and with the utmost generosity.

CAUSES OF FRICTION

Premier Taschereau of Quebec instanced several domains in which there was Federal-Provincial friction, namely, insurance, aviation and Indian lands. He believed further that there should be a clearer delimitation of the powers of taxation.

Turning to the question of water-powers in large streams, the Premier said it had always been understood the beds and shores of large streams belonged to the provinces. It was a pity that after sixty years this question had not been decided. He admitted that navigation was in the scope of the Federal Government, but declared that so far as the development of the power was concerned the provinces could do better than the Dominion as they had control of the natural resources and could sell their waterpower and timber limits at the same time. He believed a reference to the courts would dispose of the controversy.

REQUESTS OF B.C.

Special to The Times.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—The proposal of British Columbia to have the subsidy question investigated by a royal commission received strong support from Ontario at this morning's session of the Federal-Provincial Conference here.

Premier MacLean, before the session closed, served notice that he would add further to British Columbia's case after the Federal Government has given its views. This is expected to be done this afternoon.

The efforts of the British Columbia delegates to reach an agreement with the Federal Government in regard to a Pacific railway outlet for the Peace River district and the P.G.E. Railway were continued. It seems clear the Federal Government will not grant any subsidy for this purpose. Reliable information to this effect was obtained this morning from cabinet sources. Neither will the Federal Government deal with the Pacific Great Eastern, which is regarded here as a distinctly provincial venture of no vital concern to Ottawa.

Warning From Princess Mary Prevents Injuries

Wakfield, Eng., Nov. 9.—A timely warning given by Princess Mary was the means of ensuring the safety of a number of persons who with herself and Viscount Lascelles, her husband, were caught in an early morning fire at Bretton Hall, where Lord and Lady Alenale were entertaining a house party.

The Princess warned the other guests that it was dangerous to remain in the room in which they had gathered after the fire was discovered. The party took her advice and shortly after the ceiling of the room fell in.

The men guests, including Viscount Lascelles, assisted workmen of the household staff in fighting the flames, which were confined to one wing of the building.

announced their intention of standing for re-election. These are Aldermen R. A. G. Dewar, chairman of the city lands committee; Alderman William Marchant, chairman of the works committee, and Alderman John Harvey, chairman of the parks committee. J. A. Worthington, runner-up in the 1926 contest for council honors; P. R. Leighton, a local barrister; Mrs. H. Crocker, nominee of the Local Council of Women, and J. A. Shank, a former alderman, have already announced their intention of seeking election to a council seat.

TO AGAIN STAND

Trustees J. L. Beckwith, Walter M. Walker, Alex. Peters and A. C. Pike the retiring members on the school board, are in nearly all cases expected to stand again. P. E. George, who contested a trustee seat last year, has also announced his candidature this year for that office.

For the police commission, with one seat to be vacated, Capt. A. M. Aitken, the present commission, and William White are definitely announced. Two other candidates are named as possible contestants, one being Andrew McEwen, who is stated to be considering the matter, and the other a "dark horse," said to have been approached by a committee who are awaiting his reply.

The likelihood of a contest for the mayorship is diminishing as each day brings nearer the official date of nomination without any name being put forward in opposition to that of Mayor J. C. Pendray, who has announced his intention of seeking a re-turn to the office of chief magistrate.

ANTI-DISEASE MEASURES TAKEN

Stowe, Vermont, Nov. 9.—One hundred and fifty men were taken from automobiles passing through this village last night and inoculated against typhoid.

Waterbury, the nearest town in the flood district, was halted by armed soldiers.

Forcible inoculation was decided on because it was felt the men who had dug in the flood silt where possible scores of bodies still were buried were in more danger of infection than others.

Keeping the System So Clean
There Are No Body Odors

A lot of people who never have to take a laxative eat a candy Cascaret now and then. Do you know why?

They have found that Cascarets sweetens the whole system—brings an immaculacy of person that means everything. It prevents bodily chemistry from ever making one unconsciously offensive to others. And what a perfect regulator of the bowels!

Salts affect the lining of the bowels. Mineral oil leaves a coating that the blood must carry off through the pores. How much better to cascade the system, and cause the bowels to expel everything by normal muscular contraction! To say nothing of the cleaner, sweeter condition that lasts for days—a wholesome condition that makes the use of deodorants quite unnecessary in January or July! Men and women whose years have brought on sluggishness often find that a Cascaret only once a week is all the tonic they need.

Cascarets is splendid for children, too, and they love the taste of this candy laxative which every drug store has for 10c and 25c.

COURT TO RULE ON MARCONI AFFAIRS

London, Nov. 9.—Mention of a fraud charge and allegations of perjury were made in the Chancery Court here yesterday at the hearing of a petition of Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company for confirmation of the reduction of its capital from £4,000,000 to £2,374,984, authorized by the shareholders last March to put the company on a sound basis.

Several dissenting shareholders and creditors of the company opposed the petition. Notice had previously been given of an intention to cross-examine Senator Marconi, president of the company, but it was stated he was suffering from a serious illness due to nervous strain.

Wilfred Greene, one of the company's attorneys, said opposition to the petition was based primarily on an allegation of fraud.

QUESTIONS READY

When medical testimony in regard to Senator Marconi's illness was introduced the question arose as to whether the hearing should be continued. One shareholder strongly objected, saying he wanted the president of the company cross-examined, and that he had charged the president with speculating in shares of the company for many years and to a very great extent.

At this point counsel for Senator Marconi declared the noted inventor had indignantly repudiated the charge of speculating in the stock of the company and that the charge was now again denied by affidavit.

"CANADIAN CITIZEN"

THOMAS MULVEY, UNDER-SECRETARY of State at Ottawa, is reported to have said that there was no such thing as a "Canadian Citizen." Canadians, he explained, were British subjects residing in Canada. Under the same technical interpretation we presume Australians are British subjects residing in Australia, and similar designations qualified by geography may be given to the people of the other Dominions, including those of the Old Country.

It was pointed out to Mr. Mulvey that his view on this subject was in conflict with the Immigration Act passed by the Parliament of Canada in 1910, one of the interpretation clauses of which the defined "Canadian Citizen" as follows:

1. A person born in Canada who has not become an alien;
2. A British subject who has Canadian domicile;
3. A person naturalized under the laws of Canada who has not subsequently become an alien or lost Canadian domicile.

This Act no doubt was carefully scrutinized by the law officers at Ottawa before it was submitted to a Parliament, while, of course, it was discussed by the Cabinet. We recall that it was fully considered by the House of Commons and the Senate when it went through its various readings, but we do not recall that anybody challenged the interpretation of "Canadian citizen" which we have just cited. At that time there were a number of eminent constitutional authorities in Parliament.

The Census report does not mention "Canadians," but groups the population of Canada according to its racial origin. There is no need for the Census to do anything else, for that is scarcely the place in which to look for any authorized definition of "Canadian Citizen." The Immigration Act of 1910 ought to be authority enough for anybody.

MR. BALDWIN MEETS PARLIAMENT

ALTHOUGH THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT will confine itself to a session of seven weeks, it is pretty safe to assume that Premier Baldwin and his Government will have a merry time of it between now and the Christmas recess. The Liberals and the Laborites intend to deal exhaustively with the Administration's foreign policy and some pointed questions will be asked about the failure of the recent naval disarmament conference at Geneva. The plight of agriculture, particularly in view of the promises which Premier Baldwin made during his election campaign in 1924, is bound to be a storm centre. The Liberal press and the Rothermere journals are making much of the Government's failure to cut down expenditure, particularly in the various departments and on armaments. This, of course, is fairly common political procedure; but the mood of his critics at this juncture no doubt is causing the Prime Minister considerable uneasiness.

Liberal newspapers cast no reflection on Mr. Baldwin's honesty of purpose. They say that when he says a thing he means it, when he makes a promise it is with the intention of being as good as his word. They also say it is equally certain that in his fight for office three years ago he made in the most formal and definite way promises that he finds he can not fulfil. The heaviest shot in the Liberal locker, of course, is the agricultural situation and the Party's proposals to alleviate the condition of the farming industry. These proposals are being laughed at by the Conservatives; but the other side of the picture seems to reflect their practical nature if the public statements of many prominent agriculturists mean anything at all. Only recently a conference of farmers met Mr. Lloyd George at the headquarters of the Land and Nation League and discussed with him the agricultural situation in all its details. The published report of the meeting pointed out that in every case the members of the conference were themselves working farmers, that they came from all parts of the country, and that their experience covered every type of farming practiced in the British Isles—sheep farmers from the border, beet growers from Norfolk, hop experts from Kent and Hereford, each with their own particular problem which required solution. Incidentally, of course, their political loyalties were as various as the districts from which they came; but at the conclusion of the conference, which lasted nearly five hours, they declared with marked unanimity that the proposals of the Liberal Party promised "a practicable and speedy improvement in the industry."

Farmers are reminding Mr. Baldwin of his precise promises to them. They are freely quoting these passages from the Unionist manifesto of 1924, remembering that a Government spokesman already has inferred that the promises can not be kept:

"1. While a general tariff is no part of our programme, we are determined to safeguard the employment and standard of living of our people in any efficient industry in which they are imperiled by unfair foreign competition by applying the principles of the Safeguarding of Industries Act or by analogous measures."

"2. I regard it as vital that the great basic industry of agriculture should be not merely preserved but restored to a more prosperous condition as an essential balancing element in the economic and social life of the country."

"3. In short, the purpose of our party is to protect agriculturists from Socialist and bureaucratic tyranny, and to secure for them the just reward due to all investment in the soil, whether it be of money, muscle, or brains."

One independent journal in the centre of a large agricultural community considers it has summed up the farmers' attitude towards these promises in the following comments:

If No. 1 does not specify agriculture it does not exclude agriculture. The pledge of safeguarding or analogous measures was assuredly meant to win or keep the farmers' vote. Otherwise warning would have been given that the promise did not apply to their industry. As to No. 2 and 3, we have, in support of the farmers' indignation, the judgment of Sir George Court, hope, chairman of the Unionist Agricultural Committee in the House of Commons, that these undertakings are not being honored by the party that voluntarily put them forward. He declares that the Government's efforts have been inadequate "to maintain either food production or rural employment, and that further measures of a far-reaching character are urgently needed."

Interest obviously centres in what Mr. Baldwin will have to say about this important plank in the platform of the Liberal Party. It is known what he thinks about the votes for "flappers"—the principal complaint which the Rothermere press has against him on the ground that he will be diverting seventy per cent of the new votes to the Labor Party. Viscount Cecil's resignation from the Cabinet, because he was "out of sympathy" with its instructions at Geneva, will be the chief peg upon which Liberals and Laborites will hang their attack on the Government's foreign policy. Altogether, therefore, it may be a lively session.

NAPOLEON AT VANCOUVER NOT AT ELBA

TWO CONSERVATIVE MEETINGS were held last night. One was in Victoria and the other was in Vancouver.

At the Victoria gathering Captain M. D. Harbord addressed the electors of Ward Two. With other things he told his audience that he had had a chat with Mr. Bowser recently and had been assured by the former leader of the Conservative Party that "I am going South for the benefit of my health and I want to be left in peace in my retirement." This led Captain Harbord to say "I think this clears the air; we can get along with other necessary work and leave Mr. Bowser in his retirement." That is to say, Captain Harbord now is quite sure that the former leader no longer need be considered a factor in the Party's councils or in the public life of the Province.

The Vancouver gathering was the annual meeting of the Vancouver Conservative Association. One of the chief speakers was none other than Mr. W. J. Bowser himself. The report of that meeting, which appears in another part of this issue, indicates that far from being, as Captain Harbord told the Conservatives of Ward Two, "out of the picture," he was very much in it and apparently in his old fighting form. In fact, his speech obviously was the speech of the evening. On the platform with the former leader, however, were Dr. Tolmie and Mr. Pooley. The new leader outlined, as the Canadian Press styles it, the "constructive policies" of the Conservative Party, "dwelling at length on the need for settlers in the Province." Mr. Pooley seems to have confined himself to "contract handouts," hinting darkly that he could tell the people of British Columbia more about them than he already had told them.

Two interesting points, of course, stand out very clearly. In Victoria, the political substance known as Mr. W. J. Bowser, or the "old chief," as he is remembered by those who shuddered as they saw him lying neglected on the political battlefield at Kamloops, was buried to the complete satisfaction of Captain Harbord. In Vancouver, Mr. Bowser, in all his political health and robustness, obviously was the star turn at the annual meeting of one of the largest political organizations in the Province.

The truth of the matter is, and it must be apparent to most people, some Conservatives have prepared a nice coffin and a deep grave for Mr. Bowser's use; but Mr. Bowser is displaying no interest whatever in the obsequies which have been arranged for him.

AEROPLANING IN CANADA

Q—What developments are taking place in aeroplaning in Canada?
A—The two giant Fokker monoplanes which left from Hudson, Ontario, recently carrying equipment for governmental engineering surveys to Port Churchill, Manitoba, returned to their base after a successful 1,700-mile flight over what is for the most part a barren and uninhabited region. This aerial transport of equipment was undertaken in connection with the investigations, as to an alternative terminus for the Hudson Bay Railway, and is suggestive of the coming radical changes in transportation.

PYRAMID PROPHECY

To the Editor—Regarding your request for precise datings in connection with the world happenings as prophesied by the ancients, the great pyramid and interpreted by pyramid students in accordance with the key provided by the pyramid itself as given on the raised base on the granite tablets in the ante-chamber, being certain inch marks, and their multiple of five, the same being the sacred Hebrew unit of measurement, and approximately so closely the British inch, as to be practically identical, and considered by many to be of obvious significance. The following is chiefly derived from D. Davidson's scholarly work on the subject, "The Great Pyramid, its Divine Message, 1924." It is the result of years of study, and the conclusions arrived at are in agreement with those of all up-to-date students of the subject. It is, I think, desirable that I should quote from the book a brief epitome of the subjects discussed and the conclusions reached by the writer. It is demonstrated that:

- (1) The great pyramid is a geometrical representation of the mathematical basis of the science of a former civilization.
- (2) This former civilization had condensed the laws of nature into a single general formula, and the application of this formula was analogous to the modern application of Einstein's theory of relativity.
- (3) The universal application of this formula in the world of this former civilization left its impress on every form of constructional expression, whether ethical, literary or artistic.
- (4) This civilization was anterior to all other known civilizations of the ancient east. These civilizations were established by the former civilization, and their various phases of ethical, literary and artistic expression all bear the stamp of the original scientific principles of the former civilization.
- (5) The Egyptian records define the geometrical dimensions and the unit of measure of a standard pyramid that constitutes the geometrical expression of the ancient law of relativity.
- (6) The survey of Sir M. F. Petrie shows that the great pyramid of Gizeh is the standard pyramid defined by the Egyptian records.
- (7) The passage of time, recorded on the representation of an elaborate system of prophetic chronology, intimately related to the Biblical prophecy, giving various essential datings for the beginning and ending of the Great War.
- (8) The pyramid symbolism, when considered in conjunction with Biblical prophecy, indicates that its message is addressed to the present era, and that the final time of tribulation, so often prophesied in the Bible, is now upon us. So far of this present year, upon which the date of the end of the world is predicted, the program of the interior passages is brought in as evidence, this is deduced by many variations occurring each at particular points which correspond to the inch marks of measurement, coincide with important epochs and events, pertaining solely to the Israel people, and in these latter days merging seemingly with natural succession, ending to the British people, as particularly evidenced by the date indicated as Britain's entry into the Great War, namely, midnight 4th of August, 1914. The date has no particular significance for any other nation. Other datings have since been proven to have had a connection with the British nation, by events of which the significance has been lost upon the average person, though noted by those who are watching. The latest past event marked in pyramid chronology and shown in Davidson's chart was July 11 of this present year, upon which date the most disastrous earthquake occurred in the last 1200 years in Palestine, the country must be intimately connected with the Israel people, and now under the rule of the lineal successors of those people in accordance with Bible prophecy, it having fallen into our hands exactly at the time predicted by Dr. Grafton Guinness in his book, "The Times of the Gentiles," written 1878. The next important dating lies but a short distance ahead of us. It is mid-July 1928, the date of the end of the world, in connection with that date, is an exact duplication of that which agreed with the beginning for us of the Great War, and indicates a time of trouble extending to the 15th of September, 1936. Pyramid students make no pretensions to a gift of prophecy. They only interpret what the pyramid seems to indicate. Events in the past certainly verified their conclusions. What our troubles will consist of we can only surmise. Undoubtedly war will be a necessary consequence. Whether it will begin with war we don't know. What is proven beyond a shadow of doubt is to the person possessing the requisite knowledge of the Scripture prophecies, that they agree with the symbolism and chronology of the great pyramid from the year 4000 B.C.

though built at a somewhat later date. The knowledge of the exact sciences, displayed in that wonderful edifice, together with prophetic foresight, is a proof of its connection with the infinite mind of the creator of all things; and pyramid students believe themselves justified in interpreting it as a message to the people who in these later days are in possession of the ancient and sacred measure of the inch which is related to cosmic science, being one unit of the polar diameter of 800,000,000 inches. The British standard inch is carefully preserved in the vaults of the Houses of Parliament, and brought out once in every twenty years for comparison with the standard in common use.

DEATH IN SIDE WAS ACCIDENTAL

Gravel Pit Tragedy Came of Accidental Causes, Coroner's Jury Finds

Hector Munro, the Wilkinson Road Mental Home attendant who lost his life in a gravel pit cave-in last Saturday, died from accidental causes, according to a verdict brought in by an inquest jury yesterday afternoon at the Thomson Funeral Parlors, Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart presided.

There was only one actual eye-witness of the tragedy. That man was a patient of the mental home who was working with Munro at the time of the gravel pit collapse. The last word of his being questioned as a witness.

James Sibbald, who was cutting wood near the gravel pit at the time of the accident, heard the cry of alarm and ran to assist the buried man. He commenced digging frantically, he told the coroner's jury.

Meanwhile, word had been dispatched to the mental home, Eric Elwell, attendant, said he climbed into an automobile with James McLean and Granby Farant, attendant and superintendent of the home, respectively, and raced to the gravel pit about a mile away from the institution. They dug Munro out in about twenty minutes, it was estimated. All three of these men were called but their evidence was only corroborative.

Dr. David Berman, an assistant coroner, said that Munro's neck had been fractured by the fall of approximately three tons of gravel upon him.

Don't Ignore Acid Scalp!

We have all been too close to people whose hair had a noticeable odor. It is due to an acidity that soap and water are powerless to prevent. You may not have acid scalp. Or you may have it and not know it. But dandruff should make you suspicious, and hair that "strings" is a sure sign.

When hair has a dull, "dead" look after cutting and the wave is all out a few hours after use of the iron it is time to use Danderline. Just a few drops of this highly scientific preparation will check acidity, and give your hair such lovely softness that dressing it will be a delight. It will arrange easily, and stay as you arrange it. Every particle of scale will be dissolved. It makes an amazing difference. And for only thirty-five cents, your druggist will give you a bottle of Danderline that will last for weeks!

REVISION COURT

ENDS ITS LABORS

Land Valuations in Aggregate Are Down, and Improvements Up

New Method of Assessment Reported on Favorably by City Committee

The court of revision on the assessment roll for 1928 made its final report to the City Council last night, before its adjournment. A summary of the actions of the court showed a net reduction in the assessment on land of $580,934, and an increase through new buildings in the assessment of improvements by $550,441.

The new system of modern assessment had been brought into being, and work in the appraisal of the entire city in the new plan was well under way, it was reported.

The court this year was composed of Alderman William Marchant, H. O. Litchfield, J. L. Mara, John Harvey, with Mayor J. C. Pendray as ex-officio member of the group.

It was easy to point out defects in the system of land valuation, but less easy to find a remedy, stated the chairman of the group, in presenting the report. The court of revision had taken great pains to give an equitable adjustment, and had found the work of the assessor and his staff under the new system very satisfactory, he said.

The court of revision begins to report that it has completed its labors, and has signed the Assessment Roll for the year 1928.

"Nine sittings were held at which twenty-five appellants appeared personally before the court, either as representatives of clients or on their own behalf. Fifty-five appeals were made in respect of 132 parcels of land and seventy-seven buildings and improvements; there were also twenty-seven late appeals which the court took under adjournment and made adjustments where necessary."

"The court found it advisable to personally visit several properties for the purpose of being the better able to adjudicate upon the evidence tendered."

"During the past year the Assessor's Department has inaugurated the recommendations of the Court of Revision of last year, viz:

(1) "A map of the city has been prepared showing all reverted property in color, also the property going to tax sale during the present year; which is taken careful note of by the Assessor."

(2) "A card index is now kept showing sales of all property in the city along with the consideration involved, and the assessed value, which proves of great value to the department."

(3) "Traffic counts have been taken during the last year at principal points in the downtown district which indicates the trend of business, and enables the Assessor to get a better grasp of conditions, and would recommend a continuance of the policy inaugurated, and that traffic counts be taken from time to time."

"We are of opinion that a record of all buildings kept by the Assessor's Department giving details as to size, number of rooms, kind of construction, and all other necessary details, and would recommend that a card be prepared and an index kept commencing as soon as possible of all new buildings erected in the city, and that the Assessor be instructed to carry out this recommendation the building inspector to give all necessary assistance."

Your committee commend the work of the Assessor and his two assistants, and are of opinion that the work done is satisfactory both to the members of the court and the public generally."

"The court further reports that the net assessment on August 15, the date the roll was returned by the Assessor for the year 1928, was as follows:

Land, $25,484,930; 1927, $25,999,794; improvements, $29,060,381; 1927, $28,476,990; making a net decrease in land of $514,854; making a net increase in improvements of $538,291. The court has made an additional reduction in assessment of land $66,070, improvements $22,950, concluded the report. Council members who had sat on the Court of Revision were requested to bring in a further report advising as to the best method of carrying to completion the assessment plans now under way."

CATALA REPORTED NOW TAKING WATER

Union Steamship Company's Ship Said to be in Dangerous Position

Prince Rupert, Nov. 9.—The first effort to-day to refloat the Union Steamship's steamer Catala, ashore near Port Simpson since yesterday, was not successful. Another attempt will be made at high tide to-morrow.

Vancouver, Nov. 9.—Shortly after high tide this afternoon at Sparrowhawk Reef, Finlayson Island, it will be known whether the Catala is lying safe or in a very dangerous position. At 10 a.m. to-day the salvors alongside feared for her, according to their latest wireless messages.

They stated that the ship was making water fast, there was two feet in her forward hold. It was not safe to attempt to refloat her. The ship was not floated on the high tide to-day she would be in a very dangerous position, they stated.

St. Cape Scott of Vancouver, Ms. Salvage Princess of the Vancouver Drydock & Salvage Company's Prince Rupert fleet, and the derrick scow, Lion, and the tug Lorne are alongside. According to late dispatches from the north the Catala is teetering on a pinnacle, and in a precarious position if she is not floated soon.

The local office of the Union Steamship Company has received word that the St. Camosun of the same line, will take the sailing of the St. Catala from Prince Rupert, and will bring the passengers and mail of the wrecked ship to Vancouver.

NEW CONSTITUTION COMMISSION PLAN DISAPPOINTS INDIA

clares the commission will inspire no confidence and will command no public support. Sir Abdur Rahim, former judge of the High Court of Madras and a leading Moslem politician, considers a serious blunder has been committed.

In the British House of Commons yesterday Premier Baldwin announced the composition of the Statutory Commission to inquire into the working out of reforms in India as follows: Sir John Simon, M.P., former Secretary of State for Home Affairs, chairman; Lord Burnham, proprietor of The London Daily Telegraph, president of the Empire Press Union; Lord Strathcona, son of the late Baroness Strathcona and Mount Royal; Edward Cadogan, M.P.; Stephen Walsh, M.P.; Colonel Lane Fox, M.P., and Major C. R. Attlee, M.P.

Premier Baldwin stated the names of the commissioners would be submitted to both Houses of Parliament in a resolution.

LONDON HOLDS ITS LORD MAYOR'S SHOW

London, Nov. 9.—Cinderella's Gold Coach came to London to-day. And in the fair prince's seat was the new Lord Mayor, Sir Charles Batho, all smiles and bows. It was his inauguration as London's chief executive.

The sun was shining brightly this morning and there was an agreeable tinge in the atmosphere. Six spirited bays trundled the stately carriage through the streets, where the happy cheers of the multitudes of children drowned the mellow rumble of its curved and glittering wheels.

J. ROLPH RE-ELECTED IN SAN FRANCISCO

New York, Nov. 9.—Elections in the United States yesterday resulted as follows:

New York State—Governor Alfred Smith, Democrat, triumphed in a fight against a constitutional amendment which would have provided for a four-year term for the governor in presidential election years. Democratic leaders regard the vote as a new boom for the Governor as a presidential candidate.

Detroit—John C. Lodge, grand uncle of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, defeated Mayor John W. Smith, an avowed wet, in a close vote for the mayoralty.

Kentucky—Clem D. Sampson, Republican, was elected Governor over J. C. Beckham, Democrat, an opponent of pari-mutuel betting machines at racetracks. There were two killings during the election.

Philadelphia—The machine of United States Senator-elect William Vare triumphed in the easy victory of Harry A. Mackey, Republican, who defeated J. H. Moore, Independent, for mayor.

Ohio—Anti-saloon League was defeated in having a referendum bill approved by the Legislature which would have put justices of the peace on a fee basis, with authority to try violators of the prohibition laws. The Republicans retained control of the Legislatures of New Jersey and New York State.

San Francisco—Mayor James Rolph Jr. emerged victorious by a wide margin in the city and county elections, defeating James Power, his strongest opponent, by 30,000 on the face of unofficial returns. This gave Rolph a fifth term of four years.

Premier Rhodes Has an Operation

New York, Nov. 9. (Canadian Press)—Premier E. N. Rhodes of Nova Scotia is a patient in St. Vincent's Hospital here, where he underwent a minor operation yesterday. It was stated at the hospital this afternoon that Mr. Rhodes was "getting along very well" and would soon be able to leave the institution.

NEW MEN SHOW
FINE FORM IN FIRST WORKOUT

Dowman, Nichols and Leach
Appear in Uniforms of Victoria Hockey Club

Two Other Players to Be Brought Here; Opening
Game Week From Friday

Victoria's new hockey club, which is to provide the excitement for local fans this year, held its opening workout at the arena last night. Nearly a dozen players were on hand. They did not take their work too seriously, being content with a slow limbering up process. They have over ten days before their opening game with Vancouver and will have plenty of time in which to get in good condition.

Three new players participated in the workout. Chet Dowman, formerly of the ex-King, George of Vancouver, made the most impressive showing. He is a centre ice player, skates very fast, is tricky and has a rifle shot. He is likely to get the pivot position without contest.

EASTERN BOYS PLAY
The other new men were Bert Nichols and Bill Leach. Nichols played with the Victoria "Big Four" rugby team this season. He is only a youngster and played with the Montreal A.A.A. junior champions last year. He has, however, had a good schooling in hockey and may prove a good asset to the local club. Leach formerly played in intermediate hockey with Guelph.

In addition to these new players a number of the men who appeared on teams in the senior league last year were on deck. Stan Stanbury, Alex Straith, Belcher, Ivan Temple and Ross Oatman were among those who limbered up. Jack Sanders, who is likely to catch in place of the defence, was unable to appear owing to his absence from town. Hughie Burnett, star defence player for many years, watched the workout with the new players, unable to play. He does not wish to take further chances with his injured knee but a special knee-pad is being secured and it is possible that he may play. Harry Stuart, veteran goalie, will be out at the next workout.

TWO MORE STARS
In addition to these well-known players, and trio of new-comers, the officials of the Victoria Hockey Club are now in search of new players and, according to Lou Tweedie, who is the provisional president of the club, have practically arranged for two prairie stars. Mr. Tweedie was not in a position this morning to announce who the players would be, but expects to be able to inform the public very shortly.

The Victoria club wants a right-wing man badly and proposes to land one. The club will be well fortified in all the other positions and will be able to stand up against the best clubs in the West.

TO TRAIN SERIOUSLY

"The players are taking this matter very seriously this year," said Mr. Tweedie this morning. "In previous years there has not been the incentive for hard training, but with the inter-city series assuring hot competition the boys intend to get into good shape as quickly as possible. We will work out two nights a week at the arena and on the other nights all the players will workout at least half an hour in a gymnasium."

The opening game of the inter-city series will be held on Friday, November 25. It is expected that the Monarchs of Vancouver will constitute the invading force. Six other teams will be staged in the series and it is possible that one or two Portland clubs will be brought north for games.

The fans are beginning to take renewed interest in the amateur hockey as a result of the organization of the Victoria Hockey Club and the promise that first-class hockey would be provided them.

Commercial League
Hockey Teams Open Season Next Monday

Commercial League Hockey teams will get into action next Monday night when three games will be played. The draw for the opening matches has not been announced but the first game will get under way at 7:30 o'clock.

Six clubs comprise the league this winter, including the following: Garrison, International Engineering School, Rink Rats, Pimbley & Ritchie, Bapco and U.C.T.

Last season the Commercial League organized and they had a most successful year with Pimbley & Ritchie winning the championship after a hard fight with the Rink Rats. Keen competition is looked for this year. All the clubs announce strong line-ups.

H. Macmillan Won
Turkey at Duncan

Duncan, Nov. 9.—Hubert Macmillan won the "turkey" competition, played on the Duncan golf links on Monday, being only one down to bogey at the finish. Others competing were W. M. Macmillan, Lieut. G. Herbert Steppney, A. H. Peterson, E. W. Carr-Hilton, John Gibb, J. S. Robinson, W. B. Powell, Ben Col, J. Ford, T. Kingscott, H. C. Brock, W. K. Macmillan, J. Mathieson and K. F. Duncan.

Mother, father and Willie were in mid-chauzy he was rather rough. Father did not feel too well, and neither did mother. Mother was also driven to distraction by the mischievous antics of the boy. Finally, she appealed to her husband saying: "Father, do speak to Willie." And in a faint voice father said: "How are you, Willie?"

HELPS CITY CLUB

LOU TWEEDIE

One of the main men working behind the Victoria City Hockey Club is Lou Tweedie, who for several years was manager of the Shells Hockey Club. Tweedie is temporary president of the city club and is sparing no effort to get a first-class amateur team for Victoria. He wants to see Victoria win the B.C. championship this year and the fans are assured of some rattling good competition.

Thirteen Games Broken Up
Before Ninth Inning By Youthful Admirers

New York, Nov. 9.—Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig are back in New York with their pockets full of new records and cash after a three-weeks' tour of the country as baseball's "greatest show on earth."

The famous Yankee home-run king and their act made up of good-natured kidding and horseplay, interspersed with high powered samples of heavy hitting, traveled 8,000 miles, played before 220,000—mostly kids—and autographed 5,000 baseballs.

Of the twenty-one games in twenty cities in the United States from Rhode Island to California, thirteen were broken up before the ninth inning by youthful admirers. Gehrig's batting average for the tour was .618 with fifty-nine times at bat, fifty-five hits and thirteen runs. Ruth's mark was .618 with fifty-nine times at bat, sixty-one hits and twenty circuit slams.

Keating Meets V.M.D. in Feature
Game; Axioms Will Be Opposed by Redbirds

Three fast games are down for decision to-night at the Centennial Gymnasium, in the City Basketball League. The teams are: Axioms vs. Redbirds, C.P.S. stacked up against the boys from Keating. The game should prove to be the feature of the evening.

The tussle between the Axioms and Redbirds in the ladies' "B" promises lots of action as both teams have been practicing hard and are out to win.

A close decision is expected when the V.M.D. meet the Garrison in a men's "C" game. The men from the V.M.D. have full team up while the Tommies intend to live up to their reputation and will give those bootleggers a run for their money.

The games will be as follows: Men's "C"—V.M.D. vs. Garrison. Ladies' "B"—Axioms vs. Redbirds. Men's "B"—C.P.S. vs. Keating. The first game will commence at 7:30 o'clock.

Chess Match Drawn

Buenos Ayres, Nov. 9.—The twenty-sixth game for the world's championship between Jose R. Capablanca, of Cuba; and Alexander Alekhine, of Russia, was declared a draw last night after only twenty-two moves. The game, which was started last night, lasted a little more than an hour. While twenty games have been drawn since the opening of the tournament, only six games were decisive. Alekhine winning four and the Cuban champion two. Six victories are necessary to clinch the title. The twenty-seventh game will be played Wednesday.

"That's a rather nice-looking man at the next table," said the young man who was treating his best girl to a human feast at the United States after lunch. "Yes, indeed," said the pretty girl. "Well, I think I'll ask him to join us." Oh, this is so sudden! "What's so sudden?" "Why, why, that's our young minister."

Bays to Meet Navy and Scottish Play Oak Bay; Great Season Ahead

With two games on the schedule the Victoria Rugby Union will get the Senior League underway on Saturday afternoon. The league has been late starting owing to the fact the Canadian Rugby team took many of the star players and the Victoria Rugby Union did not wish to put on counter-attractions to the games in the "Big Four" League.

The opening games in the Senior League will be as follows:
J.B.A.A. vs. Navy.
Dunsmuir vs. Scottish vs. Oak Bay Wanderers.

The grounds on which these games will be staged will be decided at a meeting of the union to be held tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock, at the office of the president, Gordon Cameron, 208 Union Bank Building. Other matters will also be considered at this meeting and all clubs are asked to have delegates in attendance.

CHAMPIONS READY

Although there has been a big shake-up in the personal of practically all the clubs this season, the champions of the past eight years, will have a strong fifteen in the field again. The granting of a franchise to the Canadian Scottish caused the other teams to lose some of their players, but their places have been taken by fine athletes who have moved up from the intermediate league. This year the rule was put through which prevented players over twenty years of age playing intermediate rugby. This was done to prevent school boys from coming into competition with the men of riper years and also to give the Senior League a boost.

FAST LEAGUE

There is every indication that the Senior League will be better than in years past. All four clubs will be well balanced and special attention is being paid to the back divisions. Fast men are being employed and plays are being worked out to give the every chance to show their speed. The locals are grooming themselves for the McKee-Cup series. They realize that in order to cope with the visiting teams, they must develop their three-quarter play. The Mainlanders, benefiting by the visit of the New Zealand All-Blacks and Maoris, are getting in great shape. Many local players are in excellent condition as a result of their play in the "Big Four" series.

After having a lapse for a week the Intermediate League will be in full swing again on Saturday. Owing to the holiday the school teams could not field teams last Saturday and two of the matches were called off.

INTERMEDIATES RESUME

After having a lapse for a week the Intermediate League will be in full swing again on Saturday. Owing to the holiday the school teams could not field teams last Saturday and two of the matches were called off.

Long Shot Wins

New York, Nov. 9.—Penalo, a long shot owned by Larry Waterbury, won the favorite, in capturing the $3,000 Pimlico race, two-year-old feature at the Pimlico race track yesterday.

Scotch and Roda, of the Sagamore Stable, was third. A bad start was responsible for Cloudy's downfall. The victor paid $27.80 for a $2 ticket. The six furlongs was run in 1:13 2-5.

Miss Fire was home first in the fourth race at Latonia, a $1,500 claiming event for two-year-olds over six furlongs, run in 1:13 2-5.

"That's a rather nice-looking man at the next table," said the young man who was treating his best girl to a human feast at the United States after lunch. "Yes, indeed," said the pretty girl. She performed the difficult jumps on a side saddle, going over four five-foot hurdles amid great applause.

UNITY IS THEME AT PREMIERS' BANQUET

Federal and Provincial Leaders Speak at Event in Ottawa

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—The year 1927, said Premier King in an address here last night, would go down in the history of Canada as an outstanding one, and the present conference of the Provincial Premiers and Federal representatives would be known as one of the year's memorable events.

The Prime Minister was speaking at a banquet tendered by the Ottawa Canadian Club in honor of the delegates to the Federal-Provincial Conference. The Premiers of British Columbia, Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island also delivered addresses. New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Alberta were represented by members of their Cabinets, all of whom spoke.

CANADA'S GROWTH
Premier King doubted if many appreciated how Canada had come to be so great a country in such a short space of time. The Prime Minister paid grateful tribute to Sir Robert Borden and Senator Sir George Foster, both of whom were present, and in emphasizing his point of Canada's achievements recalled these two statesmen both remembered the coming into being of the Dominion.

PROGRESS OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
Premier J. D. Maclean of British Columbia declared that on the Pacific slope the people had the same aims and aspirations as those in Eastern Canada. British Columbians were endeavoring to build up a Province which in years to come would be no discredit to the other members of Confederation. Dr. Maclean reviewed the natural resources of his Province and showed what was being done to develop them. At the same time the British Columbians were trying to develop their Province socially and he ventured to say no province in Canada excelled his in the care exercised in improving the social conditions of the people.

QUEBEC'S POSITION
Hon. L. A. Taschereau, Premier of Quebec, brought a message of goodwill from his province and expressed a sincere desire to help the other provinces of the Dominion in their difficulties. The Prairie Provinces wanted their natural resources—then Quebec said "Ready."

The Maritime Provinces had not prospered and desired a remedy. Quebec was ready to aid.

Premier G. Howard Ferguson of Ontario commended the splendid spirit of unity at the conference. He believed the spirit of the Fathers of Confederation was actuating the Premiers to-day. He paid tribute to the "splendid co-operation" of Quebec in dealing with Ontario.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Premier of Saskatchewan, declared the present year was a good one wherein to urge the unity of Canada, since the ceremonies had inspired the minds of the young of the country with the great achievements of the past.

Hon. George Hoadley, speaking in the absence of Premier Brownlee of Alberta, quoted figures to show Alberta's progress since the province was created.

PRAIRIE PROVINCES
Premier John Bracken of Manitoba declared the Canadian Government could facilitate Canadian unity by making the administration of the natural resources of the prairie provinces a matter for the people of the provinces concerned rather than having it done by someone 1,000 miles away.

COUGAR RAIDING SHEEP FLOCKS IS KILLED

Metchoin, Nov. 9.—A huge mature cougar, believed to be the cause of many of the recent losses amongst the sheep owners and breeders of the Metchoin district, was successfully tracked to its lair and killed on Sunday evening by "Cougar" Smith, of Courtenay. Mr. Smith was sent down to the district at the request of the sheep men at a recent meeting held in the Metchoin Hall, when complaints were made of a series of heavy losses among the sheep, particularly in the vicinity of the Field Brothers' ranch. Mr. Smith's dogs tracked the animal to the hills between the Happy Valley and Sooke districts, where Mr. Smith made the kill. It will be a matter of considerable satisfaction to the sheep men of the district to learn of the kill.

INTELLECTUAL PLAYFULNESS OF SIR THOS. MORE

Dean of Columbia Speaks on Author of "Utopia" at Memorial Hall

That Sir Thomas More lost his life because he lived rigidly in accordance with his ideals was proved by the Dean of Columbia, in his lecture on "Sir Thomas More," given at the Memorial Hall, last night. Dean Quainton opened his talk by dealing with More's childhood. This man, born in 1478, was the son of a well-off London lawyer. As a boy he began his education in the service of Lord Morton, who was then Chancellor of England, and Archbishop of Canterbury, the lecturer stated. Realizing the capabilities of this young boy, Morton sent him to Oxford, where he came into close touch with the ardent champions of the Renaissance movement, John Colet, Grocyen and Linacre. While at Oxford, in the midst of the controversy between the new and the old learning, More applied himself diligently to his studies, taking special interest in divinity and Greek. However, the lecturer said, his father thought these studies of little use in making Thomas into a lawyer. So More was taken from Oxford and sent to a law school where he was equipped for the bar.

During this period, the Dean said, More became acquainted with his life-long friend, Erasmus. The speaker compared these two men, showing the similarity of their views on religion, and, to a certain extent, the similarity of their personalities. Quoting from Erasmus, Dean Quainton gave a clear picture of More's appearance and character, especially stressing the man's whimsical charm, which he called "intellectual playfulness." This charm was the chief feature of More's faculty for making friends.

The lecturer then dealt with More's first entrance into Parliament, where, at the age of twenty-five, he incurred the wrath of Henry VIII. by an eloquent speech which defeated one of that monarch's unjust pleas for money. Unfortunately, the speaker continued, Henry revenges himself by throwing the elder More into prison where he remained until a fine of one hundred pounds was paid. Moreover, the king's anger caused the young statesman to relinquish his office and retire to private life.

At this period, Thomas More felt a slight inclination to become a monk. Dean Quainton said. Even in his private life he was wont to wear a hair-shirt, and to sleep on hard boards. But the corruptions in the monasteries and, moreover, a desire to get married, turned him from this course.

The lecturer spent some time dealing with More's first marriage. He showed how this young man of twenty-seven made a fine, lovable and fairly cultured woman out of his dull rustic wife. For five years, until her death, they lived happily together, during which time she presented her husband with four children among whom was his favorite daughter, Margaret.

After losing his first wife, More married a widow named Mrs. Alice Middleton, whom he called in his "intellectually playful" way "a keen vigilant matron." However, the Dean stated that Erasmus has given us the information that the two got along very well together.

When Henry VIII was crowned, More was made the United Sheriff of London, a position which he filled most worthily. Shortly after, the lecturer said, More was appointed by the King to the position of Speaker of the House. So well did all this office that he quite frustrated the plans of the King who had intended to use him as a "rubber stamp" to pass the monarch's bills. A crisis was reached when the King wanted to divorce his wife, Catherine. More, who did not agree with this, resigned his post and again went into private life.

During this period of retirement, More wrote his "Utopia," a book in which he satirized the social conditions of his day, and which he held up as a beacon light on the march to progress, Dean Quainton said.

The speaker went on to show More's deep interest in his children, and his desire to educate them. He spoke with particular emphasis on the love and mutual admiration that existed between the scholar and his daughter Margaret, who, he said was probably the best-informed woman of her time in England.

Dean Quainton continued his lecture by showing how that great man met his end by denouncing the act which gave the King supremacy over the church. Owing to his denunciations, he was thrown into the Tower. After a year's imprisonment he was brought before the king and asked to swear allegiance to the monarch. His ideas of right prevented More from doing this and he was sent to the block. Even at his execution his "intellectual playfulness" did not desert him, the Dean said, and he went to his death with a whimsical saying to his executioner.

On behalf of the Columbia W.A. Mrs. Cummins thanked Dean Quainton for his most interesting address.

Following the lecture, the Dean showed several slides of churches in which Sir Thomas More had spoken, and other slides relating to previous lectures in the series.

SURVEY OF CITY EXTENSIVE WORK

City Council Impressed By Situation and Tables Issue For Report

The petition for a resurvey of property lines within the city, before the City Council last night for the first time, met careful consideration.

Aldermen P. R. Brown and J. L. Mara favored action to meet the surveyors to discuss the issue without delay. Aldermen E. S. Woodward, H. O. Litchfield and H. C. Holmes advised the impossibility of a decision this year when funds for the work, if authorized, would have to be asked from the 1928 council.

Alderman Brown told of the difficulty of registering titles in the case of some properties in respect of which the original surveys had been inaccurate, or their results disturbed. A survey was badly needed, he considered. Alderman Mara concurred. Alderman Woodward pointed to the lack of funds for the purpose this year, and the prospect of a council composed of different members being returned next year, and in which the new members would have to go over the discussion for themselves. He advocated tabling the issue until 1928. Aldermen Litchfield and Holmes agreed; and this course was taken finally. Meanwhile the city solicitor and the city engineer have been asked for a report on the subject of the new petition.

CITY LEADS IN PUBLIC HEALTH

Children's Welfare Clinic Working to Increasing Success, Reports Dr. Price

Victoria's clean health sheets continue to set a pace for all Canadian municipalities. Reporting to the City Council last night Dr. Arthur G. Price showed October records gave the city a clean bill of health in all respects, and a continuing success for the infant welfare clinics which have become a feature of the city health department. During the month 108 children received the regular clinical examination with instruction to their parents, bringing the total of the examinations for the year to date up to 742. No infants from viable births died, though three deaths occurred among inviable infants.

In infectious diseases only minor troubles were experienced, two families accounting for four cases of scarlet fever, which were isolated without incident. In September there were no reports of infectious disease at all, and the isolation hospital remained empty for that period.

Infantile paralysis remained conspicuous by its entire absence from the city during the month. One transient to the city brought in a case of typhoid fever contracted elsewhere, but there was no spreading of the complaint. No other case of acute infectious disease was reported during the month, stated Dr. Price.

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

By B.C. Bond Corporation Direct Wire
 Montreal, Nov. 9.—Early trading promised well on the Montreal stock market, but after a few minutes the activity slowed down and initial gains in many stocks were replaced by losses. The principal feature of the session was the scoring of a new high by Canadian Industrial Alcohol at 42½ in the first quarter hour. It sold around the high for some time, but eased off to 41½, and at noon closed at 41½ for a net loss of ¼. National Breweries was active and irregular at final price of 100, being ½ under previous close. International Nickel, after improving ½ to 88, broke to 85½, and closed at 86, a net loss of ½. Asbestos Common opened firm 38 and closed easier at 37½. Abitibi at 129½ showed a small loss, as also did Spanish pit, at 148½. A four point reaction in Waynamack to 111 was the outstanding feature.

Bond Market

New York, Nov. 9.—Fractional improvement was registered by a number of high grade bonds in market to-day, but trading continued relatively light. Firmness of Federal Government issues was a feature, giving further evidence of the satisfaction in financial circles over the terms of the November 15, refinancing programme. Transactions in second Liberty 4½s, which are to be refunded, have fallen off sharply in the past week, the price hovering around par.

Demand for railway liens was again rather brisk. Mobile & Ohio 4½s reached a new peak at 98½ and a few other such issues as Missouri Pacific 5s, Erie refunding 5s and Chicago & Northwest 4½s were moderately active at or just under their previous peaks. Industrial and public utility mortgages were quiet, with existing tendencies in some quarters. International Agricultural Chemical 5s jumped 2½ points on a handful of sales. In the foreign group, United Steel Works 6½s fell back more than a point. There was some further accumulation of French issues and a few Italian municipal obligations gained fractionally. Prompt subscription of the $5,000,000 Mortgage Bank of Denmark 5s was reported. New offerings expected shortly included $20,000,000 North German Lloyd 6s.

SUGAR
 New York, Nov. 9.—The raw sugar market was firmer to-day, and while no sales were reported there was a better inquiry with buyers at 4½ for Cuban, duty paid, an advance of 1½ over the last paid prices, and offerings light. A fair inquiry was reported and prices were unchanged at 5.80 for raw.

New York, Nov. 9.—Call money steady, all loans 3½. Time loans steady, mixed collateral 60-90 days 4½, 4-6 months 4½, 4½. Prime mercantile paper 3½ @ 4.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—Wheat: The wheat market was very dull and uninteresting to-day, with nothing of feature going on and prices fluctuating within a narrow range of only ¼ of a cent during the greater part of the day. There was a little export buying in evidence at times, but the volume was insignificant, the trade being largely of a speculative character, with a little speculative buying by commission houses and producers, the latter being all in the May future. Liverpool was steady, closing unchanged, but Buenos Aires at the noon hour was ¼ to ½ lower.

Seaboard estimated export sales at 500,000 bushels, mostly Manitoba, while New York exporters claimed that the pool were underselling them as much as 3 cents a bushel. The local cash market was about unchanged with a good demand for the two top grades and all the tough, while the other grades were neglected. Spreads were unchanged to ¼ better on two north-western. There is a large, long interest being built up in our May and the country apparently expects higher levels next Spring, but this will largely depend on the final outcome of the Argentine crop, where conditions to-day are very favorable, and the crop will be made in another three or four weeks.

Bradstreet's available supply of wheat and flour for the week increased 27,658,000 bushels, the total now being over 31,000,000 bushels larger than last year. Export business appears to be somewhat smaller this week than last and European demand is expected to be somewhat smaller. Argentine developments with large stocks on ocean passage and port stocks large in Europe and the Canadian crop moving freely. The Canadian Government will issue another estimate of the wheat yield on Friday next. The market is just a trading affair at present, but would give preference to sales on bulges barring unfavorable developments in the Southern Hemisphere. Winnipeg futures closed ¼ to ½ higher. Coarse grains: These markets were all somewhat firmer to-day. Trade was not large but there was a little export business in barley and rye and a better inquiry for oats. Offerings were light throughout the day.

Flax: There was a little better demand for flax to-day and Canadian crushers were moderate buyers, while offerings were light.

The BLUE CAR MYSTERY

By NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN

Terry removed several papers from his brief case and spread them open on the table. "I concede your right to be present, Mrs. Ruggles," he stated, looking slowly around the group; his eyes rested longest on Harriet, who sat nervously wringing her handkerchief in and out of her fingers; then his gaze shifted to John Whitney, sitting somewhat in the shadow with eyes downcast; next his glance caught and held Ruggles's cold stare. "But the presence of Detective Barlow and Mr. Ruggles is quite irregular."

"Not a bit of it," protested Mrs. Ruggles vehemently. "My son has every right to be here as," she paused and spoke more slowly, "my legal representative."

Harriet stopped fiddling with her handkerchief and raised her head slightly higher. "I fail to see any occasion for your requiring a legal representative, Mrs. Ruggles," she said; then turned to the latter's son and had sprung to his feet. "Pray resume your seat, Mr. Ruggles; my brother and I are delighted to have you here."

The hunchback flushed hotly as he exchanged a glance with his sister, then with a bow to Harriet, he sat down again on the corner of the sofa nearest John Whitney.

"Well," Detective Barlow hitched his chair forward. "I guess I'm de trop, but I'm going to ask your indulgence, Miss Whitney, to remain on." He held up his hand for silence as John bent forward. "Just a moment, sir: I'm thinking that the Commodore's will might supply a motive for his murder, and when we find the motive," he wagged his head back and forth, "it won't take long to put our hand on the criminal."

"I—we—agree," burst out John impetuously. "Sit down, Mrs. Ruggles; go on, Terry; let's hear what Uncle Jim did with his money."

With a shocked exclamation, Mrs. Ruggles subsided into a chair, but Terry's first words brought her to her feet again.

"This will," he stated, unfolding a document, "dated and signed on December 2, 1910."

"What?" gasped Mrs. Ruggles, horror-stricken. "That is fifteen years ago."

"Yes," Harriet, who had done some rapid figuring, looked up. "It was a month after Aunt Julia's death—Commodore Whitney's wife," she added for Barlow's information, as the detective looked at her questioningly.

"There's a later will," declared Mrs. Ruggles; "there must be."

Terry looked as annoyed as he felt. "Please sit down, Mrs. Ruggles," he begged, adding with sterner emphasis, "And don't interrupt me again." Then, as silence ensued, he read the document aloud, slowly, clearly so that all might hear and understand its contents.

Stripped of its legal phrases, the will made generous provision for several local charities, totaling $50,000; for the servants who might be in his employ at the time of his death, and closed with the statement:

"My dearly loved niece and nephew, Harriet and John, children of my only brother, Charles Whitney, I hereby declare to be my residuary legatees, and that they shall share and share alike in all my property not willed elsewhere."

In the profound silence that followed the reading of the signature and the names of the witnesses, Terry laid down the will and picked up another and smaller document.

"This," he said, clearing his throat, "is not a codicil to Commodore Whitney's will, properly speaking, being simply a statement and signed before one witness." He paused a second before continuing:

"In the name of God, Amen (the read aloud) I, James Whitney, Commodore, United States Navy, residing, now a resident of the city of Washington, District of Columbia, being at this time engaged to marry Mary Rogers Ruggles, also of Washington, and wishing to amend my will, do hereby state that it is my wish that as my wife she is to inherit only the one-and the panel opened, disclosing a small safe.

"Go ahead and open it," directed Barlow, his eyes shining with excitement, but Terry shook his head.

"I can't," he protested. "I don't know the combination."

The deep pause that followed was broken by John, who turned roughly to the housekeeper, standing in the background with her son, and opened the drawers—in the last he pulled out a long, heavy envelope, cut at one end.

"That's the envelope," exclaimed Terry. "It has the bank's name in the left-hand corner and—"

"Is empty." And Barlow held it open before their startled gaze.

"Try and open it, mater," he coaxed, and his voice was soft and tender. Unsteadily her fingers worked with the dials, turning and twisting them with practiced skill—until the small door swung back on its hinges.

Barlow dropped on his knees in front of the safe; with a rapidity which left Harriet gasping, he ran his hands through the numerous compartments, and opened the drawers—in the last he pulled out a long, heavy envelope, cut at one end.

"That's the envelope," exclaimed Terry. "It has the bank's name in the left-hand corner and—"

"Is empty." And Barlow held it open before their startled gaze.

TO-MORROW'S HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, But Do Not Compel
(Copyright)

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 10

Astrologers read this as a day unfavorable for many of the important activities on the planet Earth.

In the morning the mind may be stimulated so that wise plans may be formulated.

The early hours are held to be lucky for the desires of women, especially for housekeeping improvements.

Labor is subject to conditions making for serious unrest and there may be much suffering through unemployment later in the winter.

Strikes certainly are foreshadowed and one of them may be of serious import to the fuel market.

Again crime will appear to have an impetus and murders in dark or inaccessible places may multiply.

Robberies will continue to become common through the winter and possessors of jewels may suffer heavy losses.

Montana and North Dakota may suffer from unusual storms and earthquakes are indicated.

Religious controversies now will multiply in a manner that recalls old-time contests in which church and state were involved.

Again novel fashions in dress are foretold and decided changes will cause losses to manufacturers and importers.

Italy and her colonies now will focus attention in a way that affects international relations.

Press campaigns of extraordinary virulence may be looked for in the coming national campaign, owing to the aspects of Mercury.

Persons whose birthdate it is probable will have a year of routine work. New friends are indicated.

Children born on this day probably will be good-natured and affectionate. These boys and girls may be high-strung and nervous.

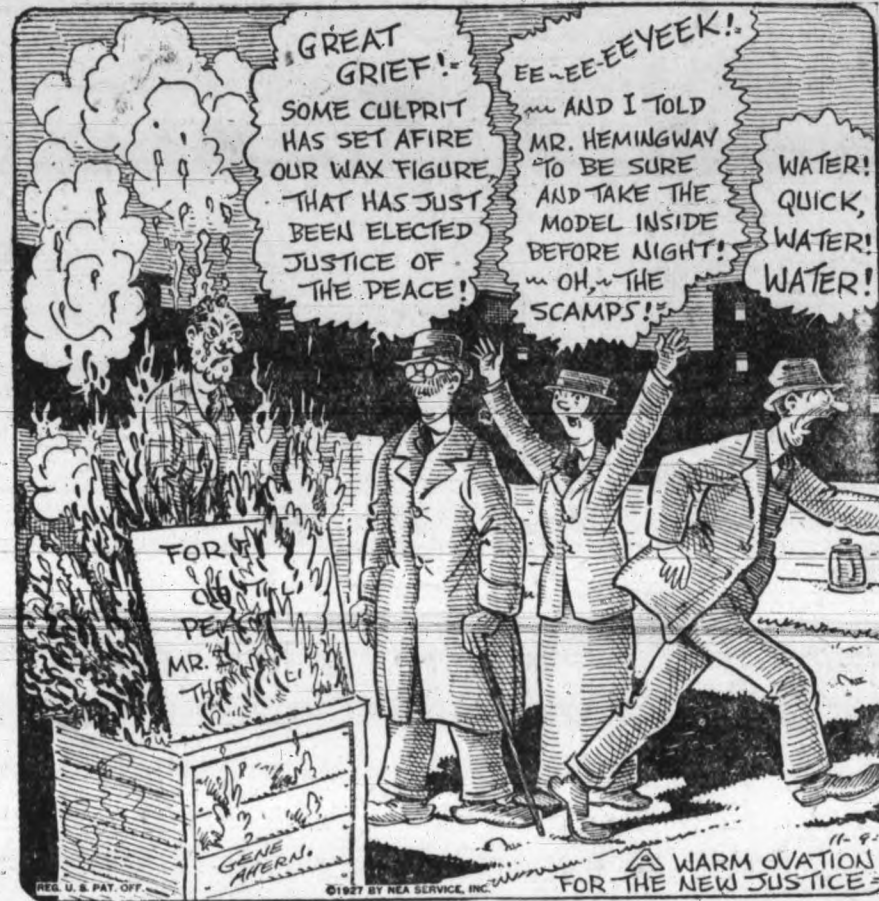

WORKMAN LOST LIFE

The Pas, Man., Nov. 9.—Searchers here discovered, in the ruins of a building burned yesterday morning, the charred remains of a man believed to have been a Russian, known as Paul, who had been working on the Hudson Bay Railway. He arrived here by train on Monday. He was about sixty-five years old.

- 2—You can change only one letter at a time.
- 3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.
- 4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

CHRISTMAS FRUITS

ARRIVE ON MARKET
More Shipments of Yuletide Delicacies Expected to Arrive Shortly

The Christmas fruits and other delicacies of the Yuletide season have arrived on the local markets, and will be supplemented daily. Large shipments of crystallized fruits from France, and table raisins from Spain are expected to arrive in the city soon. Figs and dates, and the usual shipment of Christmas grapes from Spain will also be on sale shortly. Japanese oranges will arrive soon from across the Pacific in large shipments by all the transpacific liners, which will call in at Victoria from now until after the New Year.

EGGS JUMP

Eggs on the retail market took another jump in price this morning. B.C. fresh extras are now selling at 65 cents per dozen retail, and at 55 cents wholesale. B.C. fresh firsts are remaining fairly stationary, selling at 54 cents retail and 46 cents wholesale. Pullet extras are priced at 45 cents on the retail market and 40 cents on the wholesale shelf. While the fresh extras are becoming scarcer all the time, the market is expected to be flooded shortly with the second class eggs, namely the B.C. fresh firsts. Eggs are divided into their selling prices by their weight in dozens, and not by their superiority or inferiority as many people think. Eggs from eighteen to twenty ounces to the dozen are classed as B.C. fresh second; eggs between twenty ounces and twenty-

Wholesale Market

Two and one-half ounces are put in the pullets extra class, while eggs from twenty-two and one-half to twenty-four ounces per dozen are B.C. fresh firsts; any eggs over twenty-four to the dozen are priced with the B.C. fresh extra class.

Great Economic Development in Empire Seen

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 9.—A new vision arising in the Empire and becoming increasingly present is that of Britain's co-operation in economic development, which might be even more valuable than co-operation on the field of war, declared Lieut.-Col. L. C. M. Amery, Secretary of State for the Dominions, in an address here.

"Britain is changing greatly in this respect," he said, "and I believe that during the next few years Britain will throw herself heartily into leadership, in building up a fabric of prosperity that no nation or no combination of nations has ever brought about before. In the co-operative effort the Dominions will be equal partners with her."

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

And then the clown looked at the bunch, and shortly said, "I have a bunch that one of you can also do the tricks that I have done." At Clowny Tinymite he gazed, and then his speaking voice was raised, "Come on then, little fellow, and you'll find it's heaps of fun."

Poor Clowny felt in quite a fix. "Oh, I can't do the clever trick," said he in very bashful tone. And then the old clown sighed. "Why sure you can. Just try your luck. I'll help you, lad, if you get stuck. You know that nothing's ever learned if nothing's ever tried."

So Clowny proved that he was bold and promptly did as he was told. He soon was doing flip-flops in a very funny way. And then he stood upon his hands. It's easy when one understands. The Tinymites watched him for a while, and then they yelled, "Hurrah!"

DUKE BEFORE MAGISTRATE

Melun, France, Nov. 9.—With a trail of alleged worthless cheques behind him, Don Fernando de Bourbon, Duke of Dura, intended to go to the United States "and seek a situation," he told the magistrate who examined him, when the latter asked his occupation. Magistrate Milon questioned the reputed cousin of the King of Spain and his companion, Jaime Zulueta, self-styled Marquis, only briefly. He then summoned persons who charged the pair with passing worthless cheques and "beating" hotel bills to attend a hearing to-morrow.

"I demand justice, justice!" screamed the defendant.

"The defendant," said the judge, "will please try and remember that he is in court."

VICTORIA WEST NOT SLIGHTED

Over $4,500 Spent in Area This Year, Says City Works Committee

Spread evenly throughout the year Victoria West has had the sum of $4,564 expended in permanent improvements and repairs to roads, sewers and sidewalks in this area, and gave all the Council learned last night, in a report from F. M. Preston, City Engineer.

The information was requested following a query from the Victoria West Brotherhood, drawing attention to sidewalks in certain streets of the area.

The council authorized $480 worth of new work last night for Victoria West, including sidewalk repairs on Wilson, Williams, Mary and other streets.

The permanent work done in the area this year includes a new concrete sidewalk on Craigflower Road, repairs and upkeep of sewer and other facilities as well as the current culling of roads, repairs to water walks, filling and grading where the necessity arose, it was shown.

The Victoria West Brotherhood had complained that little or no work had been done in the district, but the engineer's books would show that such was not the case, concluded the report.

PENSION BY-LAW FIRST READINGS

Cost of Scheme Under City Actual Payment Plan Will Be Lessened

Final Conference of City Officials and Employees Takes Place To-day

The superannuation by-law received first and second readings before the City Council last night, without discussion or change, and was then tabled. Alderman William Marchant stated copies of the by-law would be placed to-day before the representatives of the various groups in the city's service seeking inclusion under the pension plan, and time would be given for all to inform themselves on what the city proposed to do.

The superannuation committee meets representatives of the men to-day, and will report to the next session of the council, when the by-law will again be taken up and dealt with.

In referring to the plan, Alderman Marchant stated that the compromise scheme evolved by the city meant a saving of $10,000 a year, and gave all the benefits of the Provincial Superannuation Act to the employees on the actual current cost basis to the city.

Under city control the plan would not lead to the creation of unnecessary and surplus funds, and would add little, if at all, to the mill rate for its operation, he said. The cost would be $10,000 a year at first, and probably less, when reductions in the salaries paid to the retiring positions were taken into account, he said. In addition, the new street sweeping machine would pay for itself, and the cost of superannuation in that department for the first year, leaving a surplus besides to go to the contingent fund, concluded the committee chairman.

Alderman H. O. Litchfield concurred with Alderman Marchant that the pension plan would make for efficiency of personnel, and had much to commend it in the operation of the city services.

Inside the Now

People didn't know about things in the Dark Ages. They didn't know what was in lightning, mines, trees, air, that with a little ingenuity would make an electric light, a watch, a high-grade soap, a radio. They didn't know how to go about to know things. They didn't have many things worth while to know.

To-day you have countless conveniences. You have all the facts you need to get hold of these conveniences. You have advertisements. Advertisements tell you frankly of wonders you can buy, where to buy them, how to recognize them, how to use them, how much to pay. By reading advertisements you can know what they will do for you before you spend one cent. How that lubricant will act in your own car. How that electric stove will lighten work in your own kitchen. Advertisements spread things before you so conveniently that almost by reaching out—you have them! You find them in any better store. Their prices low, because advertisements urge their use by thousands. Their values honest, because they are advertised as they are. The best you can buy, because what is widely advertised is what has survived harsh public test.

Don't let the Dark Ages touch any portion of your life. Use the advertisements. They surround you with Now
